

Overview:

We work with young people from lots of different backgrounds and our mission is to help young people to reach their full potential. We do this by organising groups and interventions that meet the needs and develop the potential of all our young people.

In Core we do a lot of creative and artistic work and we have a fully equipped workshop where young people can learn about bikes and woodwork. Groups work on all kinds of different things depending on their interests. For example we run topical and developmental programmes on mental health, sexual health and drug awareness.

We also love outdoor pursuits, residential trips away and sometimes we go on international exchanges. We try to take every opportunity we can to help the young people to learn and grow while having fun.
