

Overview:

Galway Youth Theatre (GYT) provides a safe environment allowing young people access to the arts through a theatre training programme, allowing participants to acquire new skills in performance and to develop their confidence and self-esteem.

GYT offers its main service provision to young people in Galway City but also facilitates programmes throughout Galway County for young people aged 10 –18 through its outreach programme in disadvantaged urban and rural areas.

GYT has an open door offering training to young people aged 16 - 24, with workshops in various disciplines from characterisation to improvisation and is led by professional facilitators. GYT is often the first port of call for creative young people who are socially isolated. GYT gives them a direction, a resource to turn to, where they will meet like-minded young people.
